"It ain't fair!"

"There oughta be a law! Everything in our house runs by electricity—but this!"

Poor Butch has to do things the hard way. Mother has cheap, dependable electric service to help her cook and clean, wash and iron and sew. Dad runs his razor, and his workshop, too, by electricity. The whole family enjoys light, comfort, and entertainment at the flip of a switch.

Never before has electricity done so much to make life comfortable—for so little! Yet, in spite of sharply rising production costs, the average family still gets twice as much electric service for its money as it got 20 years ago!

The skill and experience of your friends and neighbors in this company have combined to keep the price of electricity low—and its usefulness greater than ever before.

SOIL - SAVING CONTEST PLANNED

Plans for a contest, designed to encourage better soil-saving practices among Virginia's Negro farmers, have been announced by E. W. Mundie, soil conservationist for the Extension Service.

Both cash and savings bonds will be awarded to winners, Mundie said, and the state winner will be eligible to compete for a $50 award in a regional contest sponsored by the Association for the Advancement of Rural Negro Life. On a state basis the contest is sponsored by the Virginia Association of Soil Conservation District Supervisors in cooperation with Negro Extension Service workers and vocational agriculture teachers.

Any Negro who is a cooperator in an organized soil conservation district in the state may enter the contest, Mundie said. Farms in the contest will be judged on contour farming, terracing, diversions and drainage, water disposal areas, ponds, cover crops, pasture development, tree planting, and other soil conservation practices.

COMMITTEE NAMED TO STUDY CLAYTOR LAKE CAMP PROJECT

The first steps toward development of Virginia Tech's 90-acre tract near Claytor Lake in Pulaski County, have been made, and a recently named committee is beginning the long job of planning a camp for adults and youth.

One of the first developments to be made on the tract will be that of facilities for summer camps and short courses for 4-H Clubs and older youth of Southwest Virginia.

How women and girls may get wanted relief from functional periodic pain

Cardui is a liquid medicine which is taken by thousands of women from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help

1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion, thus help build up resistance for the "middle" to come.

2 Started 2 days before "your time", it should help relieve pain due to purely functional periodic causes.

Try Cardui. If it helps, you'll be glad you did.

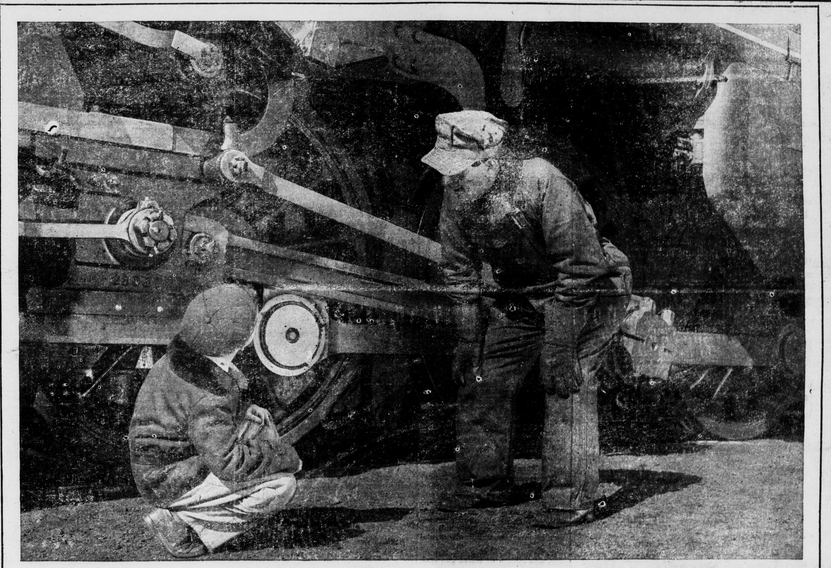
THE OLD, BIG STRONG BANK



"There's a lot behind that Wheel, Sonny"

In a little boy's mind, a railroad is a locomotive.

He thinks of it in terms of the "engine," the whistle and bell which herald its way, and the big wheels which move it over the tracks.

Ask this little boy, "Who works on the railroad?" and very likely he'll reply, "The men who runs the engine."

When he grows up, his answer will be more complete . . . will include ticket and freight agents, brakemen, section workers, firemen, conductors and other people the traveler and shipper see working on the railroad. But this little boy may become an old man and never realize completely what a vast combination of trades and professions it takes to run a railroad.

The organization of a modern railroad, such as the Norfolk and Western, includes hundreds of men working in jobs that are not generally thought of as railroading — doctors and special police officers . . . construction engineers and agricultural agents . . . chemists and lawyers . . . physicists and financial experts . . . research engineers and real estate specialists . . . inspectors and purchasing agents . . . salesmen and blueprint technicians . . . photographers and industrial development specialists . . . telephone technicians and draftsmen . . . painters and plumbers . . . carpenters and metallurgists . . . upholsterers and welders . . . electricians and cinematographers . . .

All these and many more specialized abilities are necessary in dependable railroad transportation . . . in producing the Norfolk and Western's Precision Transportation.

That's why we say, "There's A Lot Behind That Wheel, Sonny."
